

HomePlan Valuation Aid

How much should you insure your contents for?

The value you choose should represent the current cost as new of all your contents. This means that no amount for depreciation needs to be taken into account as values are on a "new for old" basis. The only exception to this rule is clothing and household linen where an amount should be deducted to reflect wear and tear.

Contents should include all those items that you would normally take with you when moving house. Anything fixed such as fitted kitchens, fitted appliances and sanitaryware, should form part of the Buildings sum insured. Note however that if you are a tenant, all tenants' interior immovable fixtures, fittings and interior decorations should form part of the Contents sum insured and therefore included below.
